Suggested Use: 2–4 capsules daily or as needed.

Our Global Male Tonic Formula is a synergistic assortment of powerful adaptogenic herbs and compounds that aid the body in a wide range of functions from energy and endurance to organ function and inflammation control. Adaptogenic tonics are comprised of polysaccharides and other specialty compounds that work harmoniously with the body depending on each person's specific needs. Unlike stimulants, which shock the body into being energetic and ultimately degrade the health, adaptogenic compounds provide the body with sustainable daily energy and focus that is a critical tool for higher levels of functioning. This formula is specially designed for men and their particular needs. The herbs have been synergistically blended to help support male functioning, especially with providing good circulatory flow and proper balance. It is an excellent adaptogenic tonic.

Additionally, adaptogenic herbs are excellent for use with a variety of people, regardless of age, health, disposition, and needs. Generally speaking, adaptogenic have something for everyone because they drop complex and needed nutrients into the body which the body can then use, discard or store. The body can also use different compounds in a variety of different fashions, which allow for a dynamic "time release" type of system that is custom fit to your health needs. Additionally, adaptogenic tonics can be taken daily without overwhelming the body and are perfect for keeping hormones in check during stressful conditions, both the positive and negative varieties.

The key to the power of our blend is primarily in the ratios and varieties of herbs we combine for maximum effect. Global Stamina combines key herbs from all over the globe (American Ginseng, Cordyceps, Tongkat Ali, Siberian Eleuthero, Hawthorn, Epimedium, Tribulus, Ashwagandha, and Rhodiola) that have been historically used for heart health, mental clarity, bone and tissue density, emotional support, hormonal support, general energy, aging support, immune support, libido enhancement and general stress support. Our use of whole herbs and whole herb extracts complement our immune building cordyceps mushroom extract (which is cultured and extracted at each stage in the mushrooms lifecycle for maximum anti-bacterial, antiviral, and anti-fungal properties) and our supremely powerful Swedish Flower Pollen which is extremely high in protein and rare trace minerals.

The result is a versatile formula that should be taken daily to build a strong physical and emotional reservoir of health. Daily use of our powerful blend may help to prevent degradation of the immune system and help with the general physical housekeeping associated with longevity and resilience. This formula is perfect for people who prefer to consume their vitamins and beneficial compounds from whole food sources instead of isolated vitamins.

Ingredients:

Adaptogens: Most of these superior tonic plants balance, harmonize, and fortify the body, providing strength and stamina. Since many forms of stress can preclude physical and mental performance, these Chi tonics provide energy, improve circulation, and bring recovery. The proper organ functioning of liver, heart, spleen, stomach, and kidneys play a key role in the body's ability to marshal its resources. American Ginseng and Siberian Eleuthero contain good amounts of germanium, which helps with oxygen utilization. They all contain detoxification compounds and improve blood flow, utilization of nutrients in food, and energy metabolism.

Cordyceps (whole mushroom/U.S.): A full spectrum extract of the mushroom that includes all stages of growth, having a DNA profile matching that of wild cordyceps. It is adaptogenic, considered superior as a tonic, provides endurance and a sense of well-being, and has unique immune and stamina enhancing factors. It is anti-viral, anti-inflammatory, cholesterol reducing, and non-candida forming and contains complex carbohydrates and B vitamins. It helps regulate fluid metabolism and modulates the immune system. It provides metabolic and cardiovascular support. It helps increase testosterone, thereby libido.

Siberian Eleuthero (10:1)/root/Russia, Asia): Classic, best known of the adaptogens, providing energy reserves in the body and helping in recovery from both physical and emotional stress; it maintains vitality. It has a normalizing and balancing effect on blood pressure, nerves, the endocrine and the circulatory systems, and on protein and fat metabolism. Good for endurance, mood, and productivity. A general resistance and glandular tonic. Well known for its kidney and adrenal support.

American Ginseng (4:1/root/U.S.): A major adaptogen, provides circulatory (by increasing blood flow) and immune support. It is known as a stress reducer, hypertension balance,, and liver protector with anti-inflammatory benefits. It improves memory and has a clinically proven ability to decrease blood glucose levels and weight. American Ginseng is well-respected worldwide in enhancing mental and physical well-being. It is truly a premier adaptogenic tonic.

Tongkat Ali (Longjack) (100:1/root/Indonesia): A traditional libido enhancer, increasing blood flow, known in tropic regions to provide stamina for long jungle treks. It enhances performance, virility, endurance, and strength while burning fat. Studies have shown increased testosterone levels. It is popular in Indonesia, Malaysia, Thailand, and China.

Ashwagandha (15:1, 2.6 withanolides/root/India): Considered the adaptogenic ginseng of India. As a nerve and adrenal tonic, it aids both the central nervous system and resistance to stress. It is good for improving memory. In Ayurveda medicine, it is used to treat weakness. It helps bring oxygen to red blood cells, improve blood sugar levels, and strengthen the immune system.

Tribulus Terrestris (40% saponins/fruit/China): Known as puncture vine, it is a libido enhancer, reputed to restore and increase testosterone levels. It is commonly used to build muscle strength and mass, so it is marketed to enhance sports performance.

Hawthorn (10:1/fruit/ China, U.S.): It has been called “a complete cardiac medicine.” It is valued for its heart-strengthening properties, regulating both high and low blood pressure, and improving the heart muscle itself. It increases the supply of arterial blood, thereby benefiting circulation. Hawthorn flavonoids also help calm nerves in situations of insomnia and anxiety. As an antioxidant, it neutralizes free radical activity as it harmonizes the formula.
Epimedium (Horny goat weed) (20:1/20% icarin /stem and leaf/China): It has a long history as a male libido stimulant. By increasing nitrous oxide levels it relaxes smooth muscles, thereby letting blood flow more freely for sexual stimulation, showing a similar biochemical pathway as the popular drug Viagra. It also helps in recovery from fatigue.

Horny Goat Weed (Epimedium. 20% icarins/stem and leaf/China) has a long history as a male libido stimulant. By increasing nitrous oxide levels it relaxes and soothes muscles and lets blood flow more freely for sexual stimulation, showing a similar biochemical pathway as the drug Viagra. It also helps the body recover from fatigue.

Rhodiola (20+:1, 4% rosavins/root/Russia): Its antioxidant character benefits physical performance and energy levels including dexterity and strength. It supports a relaxed well-being and positive mental state, helping the nerves with stress. It balances blood glucose and cardiovascular levels, maintaining healthier levels of insulin. Enhances work performance and muscle recovery by helping eliminate fatigue. Rhodiola provides a sense of calm with focus.
